WOMEN LEARN MORE OF ART OF STAINED GLASS

Frederick E. Mayer, of d'Asenzo Studios, Addresses Travel Club

A deeper appreciation of the art of stained glass windows was received by women of the Travel Club, yesterday afternoon, after listening to a talk by Frederick E. Mayer, of the d'Asenzo Studios, which information was illustrated by colored slides.

That stained glass is an art having a distinctive Christian origin was revealed in the address which was entitled "The Role of Stained Glass in Art." The art, stated Mr. Mayer, was introduced in the Catholic church at the latter part of the 11th century, both in France and Germany.

At the outset of his information, after being introduced by Mrs. John J. Willaman, Mr. Mayer told something of the firing, painting and staining of glass in the early days, such work being brought to a high degree of efficiency in the 14th century, when many of the great Gothic cathedrals of Europe were being built.

Mention was made of some of the outstanding churches of the continent and also of the British Isles, famed for their stained glass work. "The clergy of those earlier days were the men of letters, and were often the architects and the builders of the fine buildings, much of the work being under their personal direction," stated Mr. Mayer. "In those days art was of the church and for the church. The stained glass windows became leaves from the book of life to instruct and inspire."

Giving consideration to the type of men who perfected the art, it was said: "These were men of no mean ability, men who had served long apprenticeships. Many of them made their own kilns to fire the glass, the pigment for coloring, and the tools to work with, in addition to forming the pictures in glass." It was then explained that colored glass is the foundation of the windows, with the primary colors being shown in small pieces of glass displayed at the meeting. The blues and reds were the main colors of the early workers, with a few additional colors, "but today we have 80 to 100 different tints and colors." The lead joints were shown, and the method of soldering such took of.

"A stained glass window transmits light and makes it a thing of spiritual beauty, constantly changing throughout the day," continued the artist.

By means of colored slides, Mr. Mayer was enabled to show to the club-women some of the famous windows, dating back as far as the 13th century. The manner in which the armature was developed was brought to light, such being used to support the medallions. The sparkling qualities obtained by use of several pieces of glass on one field of color was illustrated. The use of symbolism, and the development of the lancet windows giving a new type of design, were brought out by means of the pictures thrown on the screen. Modern art in stained glass windows was portrayed, and the clever use of curved glass told of a number of windows in the Valley Forge Memorial Chapel, showing high lights of the Revolution, and the advancement of the country, were also shown.

Mrs. Earl Tomb was the presiding officer during the business meeting, with Mrs. Harry T. Neher reading the minutes and also presenting current events in condensed form. Mrs. Neher, the secretary, is also chairman of legislation. Activities of the 75th Congress which adjourned in August, and progress of affairs during the special session were brought to the fore.

Mrs. Elwood Goslin told of the plans to establish a dog-wood trail along the trail of the Continental Army, from Valley Forge to Washington Crossing. The Christmas party to occur on December 31st, was told of by Mrs. Roy Tracy. At that time there will be an exchange of gifts.

The club home was attractively decked in Christmas greens and red candles. Group singing of carols was also a feature of the day.

Hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. Serrill Douglass and Miss Mary J. Haines. The committee in charge of the tea hour was composed of: Mrs. Paul Forster, Mrs. Charles H. Cashmore, Mrs. George LaRue, Mrs. Warren P. Snyder, Mrs. J. Fred Wagner, Mrs. John J. Hargrave.

QUESTIONS OF PEACE ARE UNDER DISCUSSION

Middletown Grange Members Take Up Various Phases Of the Subject

SEVERAL PARTICIPATE

LANGHORNE, Dec. 18.—Questions pertaining to peace were discussed by members of Middletown Grange, at the meeting in the Friends school house, Wednesday evening.

The entire program was devoted to peace, and the lecturer's hour was opened with readings on this subject by Mrs. H. C. Terry and Mrs. Georgiana Thompson.

Jesse Webster was assigned the question, "Can we remain at peace with the world and how?" Mr. Webster stated that in his opinion the times have changed. Formerly, he said, nations declared war and then engaged in conflict, but now they first fight and then declare war. He spoke also of the Monroe Doctrine and told how the United States might be affected if certain countries in South America might be invaded by foreign powers.

Another question, "What are the essentials for peace and harmony at home and abroad?" was assigned to George Yerkes, who said he feels there should be more harmony and co-operation between capital and labor. He also quoted Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who has called for a return of the principles of the Golden Rule and a closer regard for the principles of Christianity.

The lecturer was of the opinion that if all nations could be blended into one brotherhood, there would be no more strife.

Edwin Ridge was assigned the question, "Has truck transportation proved a benefit to the farmers?" He replied in the affirmative, adding that transportation by truck is more economical and convenient than by rail. George Yerkes and Russell Newbold, who also spoke briefly on the question, said they feel also that it is cheaper and more convenient for the farmers.

The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. May Newbold, December 29, at which time a Christmas party will be the feature.

PUT BOTH PLATES ON FRONT OF CAR

By "The Stroller"

A Mill street business man worked very industriously the other day fastening his 1938 license tags to his automobile. He had a neat frame into which he put the tags and then upon the top of the frame he mounted his automobile club insignia and then fastened the whole onto the front bumper of his car.

The gentleman in question returned to the house to get the license plate for the rear, but was unable to find it. He searched the whole house and had others assisting him. Upon making further search, however, he began to think and then went to look. Sure enough he had put both plates into the holder which he had fastened onto the front bumper.

Rogers and P. Marsh; "Bethlehem, Noblest of Cities," alto solo part sung by Kathryn Baur; "Calm was the Hallowed Night," duet, Mrs. D. Moyer and Mrs. Groff; "Let Us Hasten to Bethlehem," male chorus with tenor solo by S. Troutman; "And They Came," alto solo parts by Mrs. P. Marsh, Mrs. R. Hibbs, and soprano solo by Mrs. L. Rogers.

"The Morn In Breaking," choir anthem; "Behold There Came Wise Men," tenor solo by L. Rogers; "Three Kings of Orient," male chorus; "Fair-est Lord Jesus," alto solo sung by Mrs. R. Hibbs; "O Come Let Us Worship," soprano solo part sung by Miss D. Wilkinson.

This Cantata is an important part of the church Christmas program. The other choir members who are singing in the cantata are: Mrs. C. Rogers, Miss Dorothy Anderson, the Misses Minerva and Irene Van Soest, J. Winslow, R. Hibbs and C. Rogers. Mrs. A. Rogers is organist.

FINDS MANY HERE WHO ARE IN NEED, SHE SAYS

Appeals for Used Clothing and Cash to Purchase Shoes

ALSO DESIRES TOYS

The great need for used clothing and used toys, as they make their survey this year, is stressed by members of Sunday School class No. 11, Bristol M. E. Church, taught by Mrs. William Mohre.

"We haven't met with such great need in years," stated Mrs. Mohre today, as she told of visits paid to the homes of many needy individuals. "We have found cases of children unable to attend school because of lack of shoes or underwear. At one home we learned that the mother had but one pair of shoes, the pair she was wearing, and the soles of them were worn through."

Each year at the holiday season this class of young women endeavors to gather used clothing and toys. In order to make the Christmas season a happier one for those who have little of this world's goods.

"We will appreciate any gifts of discarded clothes that still have wearing value. Underclothes for boys and girls, slips, dresses, suits, coats, caps, gloves and night clothes, all will be more than welcomed by families right here in the borough," is the plea from the class members, who ask those having donations to phone Mrs. Mohre, 642, or Mrs. Harold Hunter, 3138. The articles will be called for, and delivery made to the recipients on Christmas eve.

Used toys will be repaired and repainted where necessary, and will bring much joy to tots who otherwise would have little for Christmas.

"Any gifts of money will be used to purchase new shoes where needed," it was stated, the class also making it plain that clothing for adults will also be accepted from any who have such.

"One family informed us that none of the group had night clothes, and were unable to buy them," stated Mrs. Mohre.

This will afford countless people who desire to aid in a material way in spreading Christmas cheer, and also in helping the tots and their parents to keep warm.

Finds Many Features On Frigidaire Range

Becoming interested in the claim that the new Frigidaire electric range, recently released for public inspection for the first time, incorporated more essential cooking and baking advantages than any other two ranges combined, a reporter decided to quietly investigate for himself.

He made a trip to the headquarters of C. W. Winter, dealer for the new product, where he purposed to get the facts. He came away with the firm conviction that if there really were any more essential features possible on a range, he couldn't think what they might be.

THINK MAN SOUGHT FOR MURDER WAS IN BRISTOL

Taxi Men and Railroad Employees Attracted by Actions of Stranger

RODE HERE ON BICYCLE

Was the much-sought slayer of Mrs. Wilma Valere Carpenter, Camp Hill, Montgomery county, in Bristol, Thursday evening?

That is the question being argued pro and con by those who came into contact with the one in question and the one who is accused of killing Mrs. Carpenter and attacking Mrs. Carpenter's employee and companion, Miss Mary Griffin.

Taxi men and railroad employees here think they saw the one accused of the crimes, Wendel Forest Bowers, 19, a recent parolee of the Huntington Reformatory, whose home address is Ambler.

The Bristol men say that the strange acting man who was at the P. R. R. passenger station early Thursday evening, resembled the newspaper pictures of Bowers, looking at it from a side view, but that a front view does not so much resemble the suspected one.

The man in question rode up to the P. R. R. passenger station here Thursday evening between five and six o'clock, on a bicycle. He wore a soft hat and acted in a strange manner. The taxi men say that the stranger made a telephone call, after getting some change from one of them, and that in his telephone conversation he addressed his remarks to "Mrs. Miller."

After getting his call he asked "Is Pop there? Tell him to hurry; that my money is about gone." The individual purchased a ticket for New York and checked his bicycle, giving the name of Glenn. Previous to this he had given another name while in conversation with the men about the station.

After finishing telephoning the stranger laid down on the bench in the waiting room and taking his hat off placed it over his face.

Aiding Mrs. Toudy in the arrangements for the affair were Mrs. Hugh Robeson, Miss Margaret Highland, Mrs. June Campbell, Miss Margaret Stephenson. Christmas decorations enhanced the dining-room on the first floor, and a trimmed evergreen tree was placed in the upper hall.

The musical program included songs and dances by Gloria Greco, Ruth Bailey and Shirley Stanley; solos, Mrs. Alice Underdown and Mrs. Alice Swank, with Mrs. William Stanley as accompanist. Christmas carols were sung by the gathering.

Christmas gifts were distributed, with Charles Nadler, district supervisor of the Moose fraternity, acting as Santa Claus. A most tasty luncheon was served.

DRIVER PAINFULLY BURNED AS TRUCK DROPS INTO CREEK

Peter Biebel, Phila., Breaks Glass in Cab Window and Escapes Cremation

UNABLE TO EXPLAIN IT

Was Turning Curve at South Bristol When Vehicle Went Off Road; Dropped 20 Ft.

A truck driver had a narrow escape from being cremated in the cab of the tractor attached to a trailer which he was piloting over the road here early this morning, when the heavily loaded trailer dropped onto the bank of Otter Creek at South Bristol. The tractor lodged on the stone bridge abutment.

The operator of the vehicle, Peter Biebel, 2258 N. Hancock street, Philadelphia, was painfully burned and cut about the head, hands and face. He smashed the glass in the cab window and crawled through the narrow opening, after the doors of the cab had been jammed tight by the impact.

Biebel was picked up by passing motorists and taken to Harriman Hospital where he is still a patient after being treated for severe cuts and burns. Both of the man's hands were severely cut and burned. He also suffered burns about the limbs and body and suffered much pain.

Biebel was unable to explain how the accident occurred and constantly referred to his eight children at home and remarked "As careful as I am; as careful as I drive." Biebel stated that he never takes chances while on the road and that when he feels sleepy he pulls to one side and rests.

The injured man was taking a load of soap chips from New York to Philadelphia for the Miller Transportation Company. He left New York at seven o'clock. As he drove around the curve on Route 13, Bristol Pike, just below Bristol, something happened to the vehicle. The big machine crashed through the guard rails and tore down the steel cables. The trailer dropped 20 feet onto the bed of Otter-Creek while the tractor lodged on higher ground. The gasoline tank in the tractor burst open and gasoline flowed over the heated motor. The fumes caught fire and trapped the driver.

Biebel smashed the glass of the cab and crawled out.

Bristol Consolidated firemen were called and extinguished the flames and searched the overturned vehicle for the driver, who had left before the firemen arrived. Rumors were circulated at the scene of the accident that a driver's helper was caught under the overturned vehicle. Biebel was questioned and stated that he was operating the truck alone. The accident occurred at about three o'clock.

Hundreds of boxes of soap chips and soap powders were taken from the scene of the wreck this morning when a wrecking crew arrived on the scene to lift the trailer and tractor out of the creek. As soon as permission was given to take the chips and powder, youngsters and some adults as well arrived with express wagons and baskets. Many spectators visited the scene of the accident this morning.

Police were on duty to direct traffic and firemen were called. Chief Hagerman arrived with a chemical truck to stand by as Alec Conca cut the tractor loose from the trailer with acetylene torch. As the torch severed the steel, the tractor swung loose and Conca was dropped about five feet into soft mud.

The front wheels of the tractor held fast to the stone abutment of the bridge which carries the highway over the creek.

OWLS LOSE OPENING GAME OF THEIR COURT SEASON

By Louis Tomlinson
CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Dec. 18.—Bensalem's Owls, green and inexperienced, went into its initial court contest of the 1937-38 campaign against Lower Moreland High here last night, and came out on the short end of a 26-14 score.

The home team put up a tough scrap during the first half but were overpowered by a superior foe in the final half to come out on top. However, it was due mainly to the individual work of the visitors' ace scorer and individual high man for the night, Bob Pastore, who performed at forward brilliantly all evening much to the Owls' dissatisfaction. Bob really went to work in the second half to sink field goals from all angles to hang up his total of 16 points, which were fashioned through the medium of seven double deckers and a pair of free shots. His set shots from the side hit the cords time after time as Lower Moreland crept away from Bensalem during the second half to increase their lead beyond the Owls reach thus sealing the tilt up.

Jim Leberman, Bensalem guard, played a bang-up game for the losers in all around play and his playing in future games must be watched by opponents. Gene Snyder, guard, and Malone, forward, led the Owls in scoring with four points apiece. Snyder secured his points via a pair of field goals while Malone hit the cords for a single double decker and a pair of foul shots for his four points. The team is very green and inexperienced but they should progress with the season and improve in each game so they may shape up fairly well for their initial conference game with Bristol on Tuesday, January 14, at Bensalem.

BENSALEM GIRLS LOSE TO LOWER MORELAND SIX

By Louis Tomlinson

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Dec. 18.—To complete the opening night disappointment for Bensalem rosters, the Owl girls absorbed a defeat at the hands of the visiting Lower Moreland aggregation here last night, 25-18.

The girls' setback, however, may be directly attributed to their own difficulty in locating the cords when shots meant points. In other words, too many easy shots were muffed which led directly to their downfall.

Smith of Bensalem and Montoyne of Lower Moreland stood out by ringing up a total of 14 points. But whereas Smith counted her tallies on seven scattered field goals, Montoyne hit the cords for a quintet of double deckers and a quartet of foul tosses to account for her 14 markers. Another Lower Moreland forward, Donenderger, sunk five twin pointers, and a single foul for a total of eleven pointers for her evening's work. Hughes of Bensalem counted a pair of field goals to account for the Owls' total of 14 points.

Bensalem scored not a single foul shot in six tries, while the visitors hit the cords on five occasions in six attempts from the fifteen foot mark. If the tables were just reversed in this department, the Owls would have won. 25-20. Montoyne displayed much shooting ability to roll up her total points. Shooting from all angles and every position, she hit the cords on one hand shots, overhead shots, side shots, one-hand pivot shots, and set shots. In fact she could shoot as well as any of the males from either team last night.
